

Supernova SN2008an photographed at Taurus Hill Observatory

Supernova SN2008an is a Ic type of supernova that discovered from the galaxy UGC10936. At the maximum it had the brightness of 17.3 magnitudes. Taurus Hill Observatory's research team member Veli-Pekka Hentunen photographed this supernova 2./3.3.2008

About the Author

Source: <http://english.taurushill.net>